

The intern playlist

Our interns have taken part in a huge variety of events over the past decade and more, many of the related to work with youth, but all of them at the core of the Climate Centre's mission to understand and address the humanitarian impacts of climate change.

- Covid green recovery.
- Writing and researching published working papers and articles.
- Supporting the development of the Urban Starter Kit for Red Cross Red Crescent branches.
- Supporting research for the Climate Training Kit.
- Reviewing disaster management legislation in priority countries to determine the extent to which heat-related emergencies are captured and receive humanitarian finance.
- Learning the different components of an early action protocol: thresholds, danger levels, assessments and theories of change.
- Participating in the evaluation of anticipatory humanitarian cash transfers for 2019 floods in Bangladesh.
- Assisting with the design and implementation of a project on community-based early warning early action in Tuvalu and Palau.
- Supporting episodes of our Can't Take the Heat podcast (discontinued in 2023).
- Updating the database of the literature on heatwaves.
- Supporting for Anticipation Hub, including writing blog posts.
- Support with monitoring and evaluation of Red Cross Red Crescent Movement strategy on youth-led climate action.
- Hosting events such as the Leaving No One Behind: Including LGBTQ+ in Responses to Climate Disasters.
- Taking part in ignite talks for climate summits.
- Live blogging of dialogue platform events.